takes the kink out of strained nerves and overworked bodies. During the heated season in the interior, many joyfully fly to the Pacific Coast, there to lave their parched selves in the limpid, cooling salt water, and to loll contentedly on the shining sands with the blue waves caressing their very feet. Soft, invigorating breezes constantly blow, every day and hour spent in such recreation means renewed health, longer life and a greater fullness of life's pleasures.

Clifton Dejected, Cananea Also Afflicted; Morenci Has Chances

By L. R. Crawford

Clifton, Ariz., June 8.—The burning of the Douglas baseball grand stand has resulted in a shakeup in the Cactus league arrangements. The Clifton-Douglas series has been called off and the management here is trying to arrange to switch Clifton into Cananea on June 11 and 12, while Morenci plays in El Paso.

The El Paso Herald's suggestion of an excursion to El Paso will probably be carried out by the Clifton fans. A number have already expressed a desire to accompany the team on its first trip to the Pass city. The team is in a bad slump and the fans are exerting every effort to get the boys back in shape. The loss of five straight games has created a feeling of discontent among the players. The old heads are a bit dubious about the team taking the road in its present condition, but think a brief session away from home may help to chase the "blitz."

Judging from the reports from Cananea, that team must be in about the same boat as Clifton. If the arrangements go through for these teams to meet this week it will be hard to dope out the possibilities. Clifton has always played her best games away from home, but in its present crippled state things look doubtful. To add to the string of hard luck Blunkins have perched on the Clifton banner, manager Riley has been summoned to Globe for duty on the grand jury and the team must make its first road appearance without a head. If the team plays in Cananea, the question is, will Vic Walling permit Clifton to retain Baroldy or will he use him to bolster up his own team? The Clifton pitchers are not working any too good and the loss of Baroldy would further weaken the team.

Advises from the east throw a ray of sunshine into the lives of the dejected Clifton fans. Five and a possible six collegiate players will be in Clifton in two weeks. Of these Earl Mason, Bull McCleary and Cactus Kelley are well known here. Vorhies and Hirschman, while unknown in the Cactus belt, come with a string of recommendations a mile long. The boys will start here as soon as the college doors close upon them, and should arrive here by June 20. In the meantime Clifton has four hard games to get away with.

But the "blinks" are all forgotten when the fans size up the prospects of Morenci. Forgotten are the growls and kicks and the old hatchet, for when these sister camps take the road it's shoulder to shoulder, and the Morenci horizon looks bright. The five straight games that has depressed Clifton has fired the hill top boys with the confidence of a winning team leaving home in first place. The boys are working together like a clock and hitting the ball and whig is so all important in baseball, the entire pitching staff is in rare form. Ashley, Cummings and Merritt can all be relied on to get away with a game, while Parks, the little outpaw who performs in left garden, can work with the best of them if called on for box duty.

Dope On Texas League Games

Tuesday's Games—Special Wire to The Herald.

HOUSTON WINS THEN LOSES TO SAN ANTONIO.
San Antonio, Texas, June 8.—San Antonio beat Houston Tuesday, 4 to 2. Boushhead work by pitcher Mitchell and catcher Dorch lost the game after Houston had it won. In the sixth inning Yantz popped up a fly to the infield. Both the pitcher and catcher went after it. Instead of catching the ball, both caught each other and the ball rolled away. Two men scored. While the team was up in the air two more scores came in.

DALLAS WINS A GAME.
Fort Worth, Texas, June 8.—Fort Worth divided the double header Tuesday, the first game going to Fort Worth by a score of 4 to 1 and the second to Dallas by a 2 to 0 score. The presence of Ben Shelton in the second game probably broke the hoodoo, for his work won the first game for Dallas out of the last 11 played.

GALVESTON WINS ON WACO'S ERRORS.
Waco, Texas, June 8.—Galveston broke her losing streak Tuesday, beating Waco by the score of 4 to 2. Garber was the stumbling block in the way of Waco making runs, while costly errors by the Navigators helped the Sand Crabs to score. Gordon and Lourell were the chief offenders, their errors being responsible for runs that won the game for the visitors.

OKLAHOMA CITY WINS 15 INNING GAME.
Shreveport, La., June 8.—Tuesday's game established a new record for the season on the number of innings, going to the fifteenth, Oklahoma City winning in that inning, score 4 to 2. With the exception of the fifth inning, Tesreau pitched wonderful ball until he became exhausted. He was relieved by Orwin, who proved to be a disaster. The visitors lanced on him for sufficient hits to bring two runs in.

WHAT WILL MORENCI DO TO THE CLUB STANDING? GOSSIP

By Lee Hamilton

Who will lead the Cactus league after Morenci breaks into the Big Four? Hitherto she has only been battling with Clifton and has had things pretty much her own way, as her performance in gobbling the last five from the tallenders would tend to demonstrate.

Over Blisbee they're not worrying, but Morenci may cause everybody some quivers when the break-in event comes off. Apparently they have a pretty classy bunch of ball players, especially in the twirling department, where Merritt and Ashley particularly shine on account of their small hit records. Manager Tyler, of the Morenci team, who recently paid El Paso a visit, said the club would be somewhat strengthened in the field before they went against the other four. This may mean something, as Mr. Tyler went from here east, through Texas league towns principally, and it's hinted that he will line up some talent not being used back there. Taken all in all, Morenci must be seriously considered as a contender. The fans up there are about wild and will go to almost any lengths to secure the talent needed to cope with Cactus company. Regarding Clifton, they're not doing much right now. Frequent shifts have been made in the lineup and Pete Riley is straining every nerve to get in shape for the games to come. Several university of Pennsylvania stars are expected at the camp shortly, some of whom played on the team last year. While Clifton will probably not make the showing Morenci will against the big ones, yet she can be counted upon to give a good account of herself.

Funny about that Blisbee-Douglas benefit series arranged for Saturday and Sunday. Awhile back O'Donovan was kicking because Douglas had been unfairly dealt with in an allotment of home games for June, only having one Saturday and Sunday. O'Donovan said he couldn't make expenses at that rate and asked that Blisbee play in Douglas on June 11 and 12 instead of the Demons at home. The Blisbee directors wouldn't stand for the switch. Then a compromise was agreed upon and Clifton and Morenci scheduled with Blisbee and Douglas for those dates. Now O'Donovan is going to play out the schedule as originally intended. Reason, his grand stand burned down and Blisbee offered to make the Sunday game a benefit on her home lot, the proceeds to go toward the erection of a new grand stand at Smeltown. Circumstances alter cases, and wise Daniel A. may figure out that—while the rivalry between the two towns, the Copper Hill burg would be a better producer of crowds and consequent cash than his home hearth.

Cananea feels better, breathes easier and crows louder now that they're tallied on the Demons by taking a brace of victories. Before that, things were much disorganized in the Mexican camp. Two or three men were let go and new ones tried out, but the stretching process has eased up and apparently for awhile. Results of rejuvenation can be best decided when the Qlen Sabes come over Friday for a series with the Huskies. Rest assured that Mr. Gullittine Desapitation has not yet fallen upon the Whaling triplets. They're still sickling around, Bert, the boy behind, Bob on first and Thomas in middle patch.

Jackson, although still troubled with his leg and but recently threatened with blood poisoning, is keeping up his gameness by getting out to practice every day. The first workout since the return from Blisbee came off Tuesday and with Jackson leading down the line as usual. It does not seem to affect his playing in the least.

De Wiggins will probably work the next series on the home grounds, giving El Pasoans their first view of the ex-Kansas leaguer. He has entire satisfaction in both games between Douglas and Cananea, and when those teams are satisfied with arbitrating it must be pretty nearly on the level. Whether Mackey or a new man will work the Douglas-Blisbee series is as yet unknown.

Clifton and Morenci are now using extra players as indicator holders. Geo. Quilling has been doing the stunt until, on Sunday, Clifton decided he was needed in their lineup. He was put at second and played a snappy game. Quilling has played ball for several years, this year, deciding to become an umpire until Riley persuaded him he was needed in harness.

Regarding umpires, it now seems necessary that someone be secured to take Mackey's place if the local management and directors have things their way. A likely candidate is Homer Plake, formerly with the Blisbee team, who gave complete satisfaction in Saturday's game in which he handled the indicator. Plake likes this part of the country and the umpire's job would keep a steady, gentlemanly chap among the bunch.

Local players are having lots of fun at the expense of the Blisbee scorer. In the summary they say he scored stolen bases with the simple word "none." Inning by inning, he had them down as "going to second on a strikeout." He also scored one that Duck Gowen beat out, as an error for the shortstop, Ducky having the clean throw beaten and having overrun the bag when the ball reached first.

There was such an awful veering of the betting in Blisbee that the local contingent was unable to get up a cent. Everybody had all kinds of El Paso money while the home team Saturday went to back the home team. Saturday's victory brought out a little more Sunday, however, and those who remained away from the park missed the best game of the year, barring umpirical decisions.

Mogollon, N. M., June 8.—A baseball game between the Mogollon Miners and the Alma Blues, for a purse of $600, will be played Sunday at Mogollon, and interest in the game is taking precedence. Mogollon was defeated on the Alma grounds in the last game, losing a $200 purse. "Bull" Durham, a National league

THE SAFEST PLACE TO KEEP YOUR MONEY IS IN THE BANK. THE BANK HAS IT SAFE FOR YOU.

THE family safe is a thing of beauty, but it is of little more real protection against the wily burglar than an ordinary cupboard. Of course, it gives the thief a little trouble for a few moments, if it should happen to be locked, but the combination is easily wrenched off by even the apprentice cracksman, and your diamonds, your jewelry and silver, your prized heirlooms, vanish in a twinkling.

But how different is the bank vault! Made of armor-plate steel hardened to turn the edge of almost any tool.

Fitted with the most ingenious time locks, that can be opened only by high and trusted officials of the bank and even by them only during office hours.

Be wise, be provident, be economical, use the bank vaults, and know that your treasures are safe, and let the children use the home safe as a doll's house.

CACTUS LEAGUE DOPE

By N. M. Walker

AS THE season gets in deeper it begins to dawn upon the friends of Wingo Anderson, who is with Cincinnati of the National league, that said Wingo is either not getting a square deal with the Reds or was picked too green. Day after day the fan bunch scan the National league column until the Cincinnati game is found and then a look at the batteries that worked for the Reds shows that Wingo boy was on the bench again and had no chance to get into the going. Sometimes his name will appear in the line-up as having been sent in in the ninth or replaced in the sixth, but as yet the boy with the awful break ball has never gone the distance since that day he curved 'em over when old Clark Griffith said to shoot 'em straight. All of which cost Anderson 10 days' pay and a jacking up from the old Red.

The truth is beginning to break in on the followers of the game that Anderson has not made it stick in the big league as he was expected to do and that he has proved to be another of the early season phenoms who has so far failed to deliver the goods.

This gives rise to the surmise as to whether it would not have been better for the husky from down Waco way to have stayed in the Texas league or the American association until he had a chance to get the hang of the fast company game and then gone higher up at the right time.

De Wiggins' work Saturday and Sunday in the Cananea series will be watched with as much anxiety as interest by the local supporters of baseball. With Goyenex, who meant well but could not make his decisions stick, and Mackey, who got him headed and tried to run the game like it was a prize fight, the umpire question has become a serious one. De Wiggins looks to have the firmness needed to pitcher, recuperating at Alma, is captaining the Alma boys and getting them in fine shape. The Mogollon boys, under manager Chris Sorensen and captain Irvin Moore, is working out and getting in splendid condition. Pitcher Dan Nolan has been retained, and he is expected to twirl the winning ball.

Both teams are exceedingly strong this year. Both are supported by a strong and sporty bunch of fans, and no doubt, the betting will be heavy.

Transportation facilities are such that the teams here cannot get out and play with other southwestern teams.
